Subject: Lidl planning permission

Just to say that a Lidl is desperately needed in New Hey Road to dilute the monopoly that Sainsburys has in both Lindley and Salendine Nook---our area has many poor elderly folk and sainsburys prices are simply too high---even in Marsh the Coops prices are exorbitant ----as a 70 yr old I have to catch the bus to the town Lidl and 2 buses to an Aldi---this is unacceptable. We all have the right to good quality cheap food and a Lidl locally would be marvellous within walking distance for the old folks who live in our flats. The quality of Lidl's fresh bread alone would be fantastic and quite honestly there is simply no feasible reason why planning permission should be rejected----
